COMMODITY AND SHIPPING MATTERS IN THE NEWS:

Cargill to invest US$200M in Pakistan

Cargill will be investing more than US$200M over the next three to five years in Pakistan. Cargill said to bring "world class" innovations to the growing dairy industry in Pakistan while also supporting Pakistan's economic development and contributing to local employment. Cargill has interests in refined oils, animal feed, grains and oilseeds, cotton, sugar and metals in Pakistan. It is one of the largest suppliers of palm oil and soyabeans to Pakistan, with a head office in Karachi. The investment announcement comes after the Pakistan Nation Shipping Corporation laid out plans to build a new terminal in Karachi to ease pressure on the country's only dedicated grain and oil seed facility at Port Qasim.

EU imports of for US soyabeans doubles

EU imports of US soyabeans have doubled in the first half of 2018/19 compared to the previous year, according to a recent report by Germany. In the first half of the 2018/19 marketing year, the EU imported 6.95M tonnes of soyabeans, an increase of 12% from the previous year. The USA remained the EU's main supplier with volumes of imports increasing to 5.2M tonnes this season from only 2.3M tonnes in the previous year. US soyabean imports have increased because of the ongoing trade war between the USA and China. EU has always been dependent on third countries to supplement its soyabean demand because EU demand exceeds EU production by around 30%. Meantime EU imported 1.9M tonnes of soyabeans from Brazil in 2016/17, 1.8M tonnes in 2017/18 and 1.3M tonnes from July to December 2018/19.

Canadian niche player McKeil Marine moves into tankers

McKeil Marine bought two chemical tankers from Turkish owners Transal Shipping. McKeil is believed to have paid Transal about $17.5m in total for the 14,000-dwt Topaz-T (2009) and Turquoise-T (2008). McKeil Marine, best known as an operator of barges, tugs and workboats, was founded in 1956 by Evans McKeil. McKeil Marine generally employs its ships on the back of long-term transport agreements with large Canadian companies.

Danish owner Celsius Shipping continues to boost its fleet with a purchase of MR tanker

Celsius has purchased the 53,000-dwt High Force (built 2009) from d'Amico. The deal takes the company's position in the product tanker sector to seven ships. Backed by Bayside Capital and Breakwater Capital, Celsius controls a fleet of 37 ships in the products and chemical tanker, dry cargo, LPG and LNG markets. In the products tanker segment, the Celsius portfolio has gone from zero to seven ships in a year.

Idan Ofer completes deal for BW chemical tanker fleet with $350m transaction

BW's 13 ships will join the Ace Quantum Chemical Tankers pool which already operates 22 ships in the 19,000-dwt range. For BW the sale makes sense given its activity in other areas of the tanker sector. BW sealed the takeover of Hafnia Tankers in December, with the transaction paving the way for a listing on a senior exchange. BW is also the largest shareholder in DHT Holdings, the VLCC owner listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Aegean Shipping offloads MR product tanker

Aegean Shipping sold the 50dwt tanker Green Hellas (2014) to Chinese owners for about $26m. The Green Hellas was one of four sister ships delivered to Aegean Shipping Management in 2014. The ship is among four vessels in Aegean's "Green Fleet" of MR tankers ordered in 2012 at Daesun Shipbuilding. The South Korean yard delivered the sister ships quartet, which includes the Green Sky, Green Planet and Green Sea in 2014. In 2015, Aegean put the ships into a five-year time charter with Stena Weco, at around $16,500 per day.

ENI and Pertamina in agreement for green fuel refinery

Indonesian state-owned PT Pertamina has signed an agreement with Italian ENI SpA to develop a green refinery in Indonesia and to process a palm oil-based fuel mixture in Italy. Pertamina said that the joint venture agreement is to produce fuel completely derived from crude palm oil in the Indonesian facility. The company also signed an agreement to process CPO in ENI's refinery in Italy for production of hydrotreated vegetable oil (HVO), which can be used as a mixture in diesel fuel. The two companies are also in talks to potentially produce HVO in Indonesia and to conduct studies into potentially converting three Pertamina refineries to produce palm-based biodiesel.

China becomes latest country to ban the discharge of wash water from open-loop scrubbers

The decision by the world's largest seaborne trading nation follows comparable measures in Singapore, Belgium and some US states, amid growing concerns about how the wash water could affect the ecology of coastal and inland waters. Open-loop exhaust gas cleaning systems are cheaper to install and better suited to operate in open waters. In the VLCC segment, closed-loop scrubbers cost between $500,000 and $800,000 more than open-loop types. Hybrid and closed-loop scrubbers take up more space onboard due to extra equipment, so more structural modifications during installation might be needed. They are also expected to cost more to operate because they need to dispose of effluents. The IMO is due to review the guidelines for scrubber use this year, which could provide more clarity. Seas at Risk senior policy advisor John Maggs said that it makes much more sense to do scrubbing sulphur from fuel at the refinery level instead of ships.

Finnish transportation fuel to be 30% biofuel by 2030

Finland voted on 6 February in favour of a law requiring transportation fuel to be comprised of 30% biofuel by 2030. Additionally, the new law would also require biofuel to be blended into light fuel oil for heating, machinery and fixed engines by 2021 to 2028, when it would reach 10%. Finnish renewables company Neste and paper mill company UPM have shown support of the new biofuel laws. Neste has extended its production capacity in Singapore by up to 1.3M tonnes/year, bringing total capacity in 2022 close to 4.5M tonnes/year. Currently its production capacity is 2.7M tonnes/year. UPM invested US$202M in a biorefinery in Finland for production of wood-based renewable diesel and naphtha called UPM BioVerno, which is a product from its crude tall.

Fuel derivatives market shows lower scrubber returns

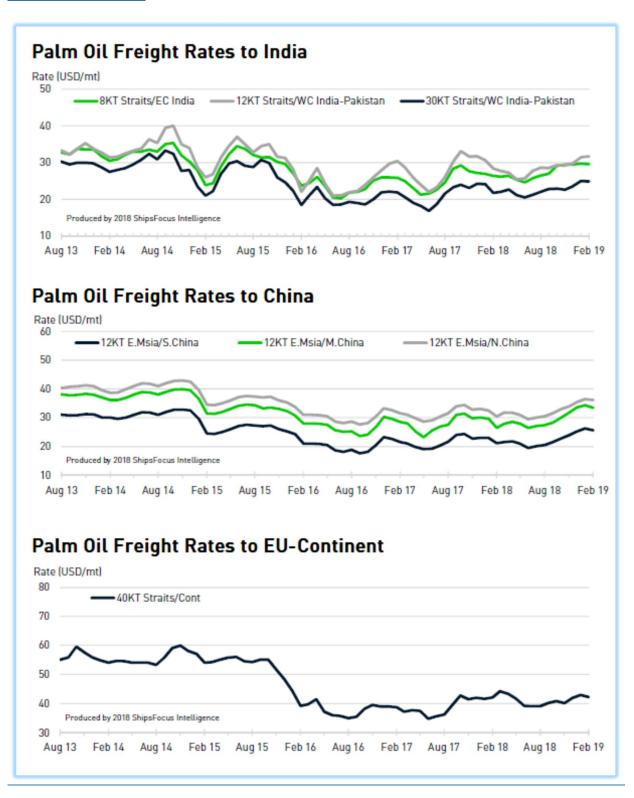

Shipowners that opt for scrubbers may face disappointing returns, judging from the price spread in current fuel derivative trading. With industry expectation that HSFO would be sold at a discount of $250-$300 per tonne to compliant fuels in the initial periods after January 2020, many shipowners were rushing to install scrubbers. However according to recent contracts the discount is only around $175-$185 per tonne for the calendar 2020 in the forward fuel derivative markets. While the more optimistic owners of large ships were predicting a return period of nine months for scrubbers, now return time could be as long as 2/3 years. Data from DNV GL shows the number of ships with scrubbers in operation and on order will reach at least 2,763 by the end of 2023.

BP Marine to sell Low Sulphur fuel oil soon

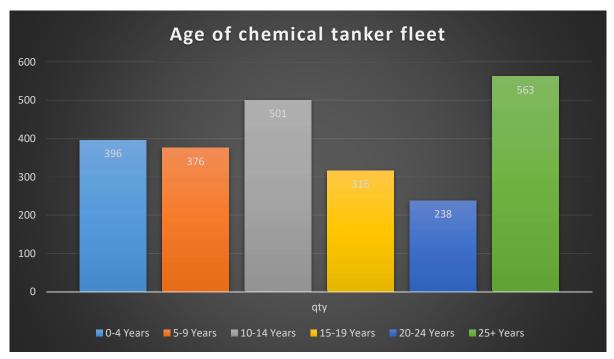

BP Marine will begin selling very low sulphur fuel oil at locations worldwide ahead of the IMO 2020 regulations. The fuel will be compliant with the 0.5% sulphur cap, set to kick in next year. BP said the fuel was trialed at its Amsterdam/Rotterdam/Antwerp and Singapore hubs. ExxonMobil also announced they would sell compliant fuel at ports in Northwest Europe, the Mediterranean and Singapore last year. BP also intends to provide MGO at the same locations they sell the low sulphur fuel, plus Valencia, Senegal, Fujairah, Dampier, Broome, Darwin and Hobart. For scrubber users, the high sulphur fuel will still be available in the ARA, Cape Town/Durban/Richards Bay, Fujairah, China and Hong Kong, Freemantle, Brisbane and the New Zealand sites.
